

Year 11 Revision Support Booklet

Supporting your examinations

Andrew Johnson

Welcome to your revision and intervention timetable. This is in place to try and ensure that you can maximise the remaining few weeks during your exams, so that you are able to be supported right up until the start of each.

Until half term, lessons will continue as normal, but after half term you will need only attend for the planned revision sessions and your exams.

We know that this can be a stressful time, so we are here to help you!

By combining revision sessions, breakfast boosters, study time and your hard work, there is still time to get the very marks you can in your exams.

This works like a diary; it shows you what is on each day and when. The rooms will communicate to you on the computer screens in school, but this booklet should be your new best friend in preparing you for your exams.

There are several key areas to help to support you.

Breakfast Boosters

These are sessions just before your exam, in the theatre in a morning. Your teachers will be there to give a short presentation to give you a last minute boost, there will be water and food available so that you head into your exams ready to go!

Specific After school revision

These are sessions that are after school, most often the afternoon before a morning exam. Consider these the non-optional revision groups to go to, these are designed to ensure that you have everything you need to be able to go to bed that night, ready for the morning that follows. These are always followed by Breakfast Boosters.

General after school revision

Since January, many of you have attended these weeks in and week out, these are still available and part of the plan to ensure that you are ready. These take place in the usual rooms that you go to

Period 1-3 Revision

On certain days we are able to arrange revision in the day, before half term this tends to be period 2, an extra 100 minutes with your teachers just before the exam in the afternoon! On others we will use any of the 3 periods. After half term, these are the periods that you will be invited into revise for, often the day of an afternoon exam or the day before a morning one. Attending these will require full uniform still, that is not optional.

Leavers Assembly

You all have physics as your last exam, this is in the morning, This gives us the perfect opportunity to say goodbye and well done. School Uniform must be worn, more details will come out around this final assembly.
