

NIA STUDENT VOICE

Committee updates from our Staff Leads

Pupil Parliament have been regularly meeting with Aspens (our food provider) to ensure the quality and price of the food offered here at NIA is right for the students and staff. We have also discussed having low or no sugar alternatives for meal deals for those staff and students who need those options.

We have already looked at the menu for the next term and are going to be tasting some of the food alongside members of the cultural inclusion committee.

We have also met with Mr Serrão to discuss uniform and making our school look livelier by adding some new paint and some murals/ areas to showcase student work. Whilst in this meeting we asked whether we could look into adding more trips across our school to enrich student learning.

Meet NIA's Student Committee Members!

Committee - Cultural Inclusion

As a member of the Cultural Inclusion Committee, I have been proud to help celebrate and amplify the diverse cultures within our school community. From organizing events that highlight different traditions to advocating for more inclusive curriculum content, our work has helped foster a stronger sense of belonging for all students. This committee has reinforced the importance of representation and open dialogue, proving that when we embrace diversity, we create a school environment where everyone feels valued and empowered.

Global Ambassador Conference

This week our Student Leadership team attended the 2025 Global Ambassador conference organised by Quinton House School. We have attended the conference since it's first event in 2023 and are incredibly proud to continue our involvement with such an impactful, student led initiative. The focus of this year's event, held at St Benedict's Church was mental health. The event involved over 150 delegates and was sponsored by West Northamptonshire Council.
